16 Case No. 5:14-cv-00152 HRL

17 ORDER DENYING PLAINTIFF'S REQUEST FOR A CONTINUANCE

18 Having reviewed the parties' declarations filed in response to its January 7 interim order,¹
19 the court denies plaintiff's Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(d) request for a continuance. Plaintiff's counsel's 20 declaration did not provide the requisite information, i.e., identification of specific facts and an 21 explanation why those facts would preclude summary judgment. But, the upshot of the parties'
22 respective submissions is this: Although defendant previously indicated that more documents
23 would be produced, defendant now represents that all relevant, responsive information requested
24 by plaintiff has been produced (i.e., was produced on or before December 17). Defendant further
25 represents that, apart from government mandated rules, it has no separate internal policies re loan
26 modification review. And, all that plaintiff now wants is supplemental discovery responses from 27

28 ¹ The court does not condone plaintiff's tardy submission, but nevertheless has considered it.

1 defendant re the non-existence of separate internal policies---something that this court is told
2 defendant has agreed to provide, albeit it may take some time to have defendant verify the 3 supplemental discovery responses.

4 Defendant shall make every effort to provide the supplemental verified discovery
5 responses to plaintiff in time for her to submit those responses along with her summary judgment
6 opposition papers. Should the supplemental responses and verification not be received in time,
7 plaintiff may submit those responses once they are received, even if they are received after the 8 opposition filing deadline. Plaintiff's request for an extension of time to file her summary
9 judgment opposition is otherwise denied.

10 SO ORDERED.
